

Rate Sheet for Programs Based on Income For Children and Teens

Do You Have Children or Teens?

Uninsured children under 19 years can be evaluated for CHIP using the SpecialCare application. For many families, CHIP is free. To find out which CHIP coverage is available to your child, follow these steps:

1. Find the row that equals the number of people in your household.
2. In that row, find the box that matches the age of the child and your current annual household income before taxes. (This includes wages and other income from you, your spouse and any other adults living with you who provide income to the household.)
3. If your income is lower than the ranges shown, your child may qualify for Medical Assistance.

Note: If you have dependent children under age 26 and 19 or older, please see the other side of this rate sheet.

Rate Sheet for Programs Based on Income For Adults

Do You Qualify For SpecialCareSM or adultBasic?

To see if you qualify for SpecialCare or adultBasic, check the Income Guidelines chart below:

1. Find the row that equals the number of people in your household.
2. Find your annual household income for the current year (this includes wages and other income received by you, your spouse and any children under the age of 26 (for whom you are applying for coverage). Income from both spouses is required, even if only one is applying for SpecialCare or adultBasic. Adults should include income from their spouse and any children under the age of 26 living with them in the household, as well as income for dependents under age 26 that are applying for coverage who do not live in the household. Do not include income for students under 19 years.
3. Many adults will be eligible for both SpecialCare and adultBasic. If your income is lower than the range shown, you may qualify for Medical Assistance.
